15/9

For Profit Social Enterprises

A cooperative is established to serve the common interests of its members : True

A cooperative operates in the private sector of the economy: True

Cooperatives are for-profit organisations: True

A cooperative has a board of directors that makes strategic decisions: True

Members of a cooperative have unlimited liability: False

There is a legal separation b/w the members of a cooperative and the business itself : True

Any financial surpluses or profits is distributed b/w members of the cooperative and/or used as retained profit : True

Cooperatives are not permitted to declare a profit, with any surpluses being entirely reinvested in the business : False

All owner-members of a cooperative have equal voting rights : True

There is continuity in a cooperative should a key owner leave the organization: True